Road safety

Respect the French traffic laws, which all cyclists must respect. In the case of a serious infraction, you are liable to a fine.

To cycle safely, it is mandatory for children under 12 to wear an approved helmet and for all cyclists to wear a high-visibility vest outside built-up areas at night or when visibility is reduced, as well as to have a functioning lighting system and bell.

Usually on greenways, pedestrians have priority and you must signal your approach with your bike bell. On shared roads, clearly indicate your intentions: arm outstretched to turn, appropriate positioning on the road. Be aware of blind spots and lateral movements of vehicles.

- The Vélo Francette is a cycle route linking Ouistreham (in Normandy) to La Rochelle (in Nouvelle-Aquitaine).
 - > From Ouistreham to Caen, the journey is on the greenway along the Caen canal. The route is 17.5km long.
 - > Once arrived in Caen, the journey continues on the greenway and descends towards Suisse Normande. 27km separate Caen from the municipality of Le Hom, whose main town is Thury-Harcourt.

- From Roscoff in Brittany, to Dunkirk, on the Belgian border, the cycle route crosses mythical sites such as Mont-Saint-Michel and its bay, the Landing Beaches, or even the cliffs of Etretat. With a significant proportion of shared paths, it is an ideal cycling route for cyclists looking for an escape, a challenge and cultural gastronomic discovery.
